

Social media templates for Spooky + Hurricane Helene

In the wake of Hurricane Helene, our neighbors across the region are struggling to rebuild their lives. The storm has left many without basic necessities, and while our community is strong, the need for food and water is more urgent than ever. That's why we're evolving this year's It's Spooky to be Hungry campaign to focus not only on fighting hunger but also on providing critical disaster relief.

Your help can make all the difference. We're calling on everyone to embrace the spirit of It's Spooky to be Hungry + Hurricane Helene Relief by donating to our food and funds drive. Whether it's a bag of food or a few dollars, your contribution will bring comfort and nourishment to families hardest hit by the storm. Together, we can offer hope during this critical time. Thank you for standing with us as we continue the fight against hunger and help our neighbors on the road to recovery.

Donate here: {Insert your virtual drive link here}

---

For the past 32 years, October has marked the start of It's Spooky to be Hungry. This year, however, looks a little different. @Golden Harvest Food Bank's immediate focus is on hunger relief efforts in response to Hurricane Helene. The storm has significantly impacted our region, and while our community is strong, there's an urgent need for food and water across the 24 counties we serve. If you're able, please consider donating to our page to assist with relief efforts. Every $2 donated provides 5 meals.

Donate here: {Insert your virtual drive link here}

---

@Golden Harvest Food Bank is responding with support, food, and supplies to our neighbors across their 24-county service area affected by Hurricane Helene. We're using our It's Spooky To Be Hungry drive to support ongoing community recovery efforts. Your gift will greatly impact the immediate aftermath of this disaster. Every $2 you give can provide 5 meals to families, children, and seniors right here in our community.

Donate here: {Insert your virtual drive link here}